2019 Rural Development Report. Creating opportunities for rural youth

IFAD is sharpening its focus on rural youth and in this funding period, 2019-2021, targeting a dramatic increase in the number of young people trained in income-generating activities or business management. This report is based on substantive evidence and attempts to provide the kind of analysis that can inform policies, programmes and investments to promote a rural transformation that is inclusive of youth. It examines who rural youth are, where they live, and the multiple constraints they face in their journey from dependence to independence.
